

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A method of selling at least one right associated with contest participants through a computer network is disclosed. The method includes broadcasting contests between the participants through the network, and transmitting to potential buyers an indicator of advertising effectiveness for each participant. The potential buyers are connected to the network via terminals.

09723228-112700